Thinking Out Loud

H. M. L.

It will be recalled that Theodore Roosevelt, extremely optimistic regarding his place in the affections of the American people, formed the Progressive or "Bull Moose" party, split the Republican party wide open, and permitted Woodrow Wilson, Democratic leader to be elected President. Today a great many observers are wondering if Roosevelt the Second is not about to repeat the blunder of his distinguished fifth cousin.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, may or may not be a candidate for a third term. There is nothing in the Constitution to prohibit him from doing so if he wishes, anymore than there is to prohibit him from appointing six or five, or fifty additional justices to the United States Supreme Court. If, when the moment arrives, the opportunist in the White House believes he may be re-elected, he will undoubtedly run. For so far as American traditions are concerned the President is an iconoclast; he will cast them aside if it suits his purpose.

He would undoubtedly run on the Progressive or New Deal ticket if he decided to run, for the Democratic party, we do not believe, would nominate him. He has offended too many of its leaders in Congress. His Supreme Court plan has aroused the opposition, bitter in some cases, of nearly all national leaders of the Democratic party. As it looks now, he is likely to be defeated in his Supreme Court plan. The Judiciary committee of the Senate, preponderately Democratic, has voted against his plan 10 to 8. In due time it will go to the floor of the Senate for debate, and we believe that body will defeat it, despite the "heat" Postmaster General Farley, is turning on them through their constituencies.

But whether the Supreme Court is given a face lifting a la Roosevelt or not, the President loses. If he wins he increases the breach in the Democratic party which placed him in power. If he loses it will be after such a battle in his own party, that no balm poured on its wounds can heal them.

If the President is not a third term candidate to succeed himself, none doubts that he will undertake name his successor. In this event he will undoubtedly seek to name a New Dealer rather than a simonpure Democrat, such as Clark of Missouri, Wheeler of Montana, or Byrd of Virginia. He will naturally seek to keep in power a regime that will carry forward his own policies.

But the solid South is still largely unregenerate. It does not wish to be reformed "now." The doctrine of state rights, which had its extreme exemplification in causing the Civil War, is still cherished by the property owners of that Democratic stronghold. They, for instance, do not care to see their "uppity niggers" voting under any circumstances. They may be voting the Democratic ticket, or for the "black' Republicans. The solid South does not propose to take any chances with a New Deal for the "niggers."

Of course the pelf and patronage which the New Deal has lavished in the South has been gratefully received. Where formerly plantation owners were morally responsible for at least the subsistence of the negro population, and in general lived up to this age-old obligation, they would be less than human if they were not grateful for the benefactions bestowed under the New Deal, which relieved them of t tremendous burden and distributed it north, south, east and west. But nowhere in the United States it there more of that "rugged individualism" than in the South, and generally speaking the South looks with suspicion upon New Deal efforts to centralize all power in the Federal government.

The responsible leadership of the Democratic party, likes Roosevelt and his liberal (some would say, radical) policies as little as do the Republicans. From this distance, looking three years ahead into the misty political murk, it would seem as if history were about to repeat itself, with the Democratic party, taking the role of the Old Guard that went down to defeat because of another impetuous President.

This is Last Day of Home Craft Institute; Many Prizes Awarded

Attorney Frank Finnegan Wednesday introduced Mrs. Jane Barton, leader of the Home Craft Institute which opened in the Nevada Theatre Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Finnegan stated that whatever women learned of home making was conducive to comfort of the men folks. He stated that in the last twenty years no department of human life had been so changed for the better through research and invention as had that of home making. Anything which could lighten the drudgery and routine of housekeeping deserved all the praise accorded it.

A large audience of women gathered early to participate in the institute which Jane Barton established in Nevada City in 1936 and resumed Wednesday with the present three day series under the auspices of the Nevada City Nugget and the Pacific Rural Press. Today is the last day of the institute and some of the more valuable door prizes will be given out this afternoon.

DeBerry"s supplied the Frigidaire which is being used on the stage, and Rumsey's provided the radio. To Alpha Stores of Nevada City and Grass Valley the Home Craft Institute is indebted for many courtesies in the way of kitchen accessories and stage needs.

WORK BEGUN ON BIG FILTER FOR PARK POOL

Work was started Tuesday on a big filter for the swimming pool in Pioneers Park. The ground is being leveled at the south end of the terraces above the pool. The filter will be 24 feet square by 8 feet deep. The park board proposes to filter the water which has been diverted from Little Deer Creek, raising it by means of a centrifugal pump from a sump near the lily pond, into the filter. It is also hoped to recirculate the water through the filter after it has flowed into the pool. This is expected to keep the water crystal clear at all times.

Reports are that the Irelan mine at Alleghany, with a rich past production record is preparing to reopen soon.

Several Mines Resume Work in Washington and Graniteville

Among mines which have begun or resumed activity during the past month are the Birchville, Republic and Jim mines, near Graniteville, Treasure Box, Lady Bug and Red Ledge of Washington. The Bullion below Grass Valley is reported now employing 50 men. The Republic of Graniteville employs 25 miners. The Zeibright mine in Bear Valley now has a total of 125 men employed.

In Nevada county the total number of employed miners is now approximately 2,367, and the payroll is around $367,150 monthly.

The mines that have resumed work in the vicinity of Graniteville and Washington nearly all represent nef companies and new investors. Alleghany in Sierra county also shows a new peak of acticity. One or two big mining transactions in the Nevada City neighborhood are pending, which is they are concluded, may result in the employment of many more miners.

Reports from the various mining properties in the county follow:

RAINBOW EXTENSION PROPERTY

W. Harlan is owner of the Rainbow Extension propety near this city. It is located across Kanaka creek across from 21 mine. New outfit has gone into the property in the last few days to do yearly assessment work.

An attempt is being made to clear the road between Forest and the Ruby mine and from the mine to Goodyears Bar of snow. Paul Smith of Downieville who has been surveying for the Plumbago mine returned hove a few days ago.

ORIENTAL MINE

Three shifts are employed in the ten stamp mill at the Oriental mine above Alleghany. Crews are drifting on the vein. Fourteen men are employed. Ray Hawkins of Alleghany and F. F. Cassidy, of the Alpha Stores in Nevada City, are interested in this mine.

ALLEGHANY MINES

While mines, that have been operating throughout the winter in the Alleghany district of Sierra county, are making steady progress with new programs of development, several others properties are reopening and different groups are preparing for their annual assessment work. The following notes are a partial list of interesting progress being made at this time.

SIXTEEN-TO-ONE MINE

A winze is being sunk on the 1600 foot level in the famous Sixteen-to-One mine at the southern city limits of Alleghany. The company employs between 80 and 90 men, practically the same number having been employed there for many years. Clayton Bennett is superintendent. A ball mill on the property treats between 110 and 120 tons of ore per day.

KENTON MINE

George Scribner is in charge of operations at the Kenton mine south east of Alleghany and has more than 30 men employed. It is stated plans are to start sinking the shaft in about six weeks. Otto Koopman is mine foreman.

Try Buying at Home

You incorrigibles who have insisted on traipsing off to distant places to make your purchases—why not try buying at home for a few months, and find out for yourselves that it pays both you and your community.

A financial firm in California recently took a poll among leading businessmen, and came up with the collective opinion that business in this state will increase 11.5 per cent during the next five months. And the communities in which the buy-at-home habit is firmly fixed, will gain the full benefit of this heavier trade and will reflect it in prosperous growth.

Time was when people might have had legitimate excuses for going to big city centers to shop. Perhaps this or that favorite article was not available at home, or was cheaper elsewhere. But no more. Branch stores have brought in the best of big-city goods at the best of big-city prices, and their competition has stirred all local merchants to match these "bests."

Today there is virtually nothing you cannot buy to advantage at home. To advantage—yes, particularly since it is to your advantage to see your community grow.

Why not try shopping on the home grounds, you who have roamed; beginning now, today, so that the most may be made of this increase in trade that's predicted for the coming months.

ROAD IMPROVEMENT NEAR GOODYEARS BAR

For a week Hemstreet and Bell of Marysville have had three steam shovels working on their four mile contract on the Downieville highway north of Goodyears Bar. These big shovels are ripping and tearing at shoulders and corners along the road bouncing immense boulders over the banks into streams or loading them into large dump trucks to be hauled to fills. Three or four dump trucks used on the work were brought from the Boulder dam and debris loaded on them is filling low sections of the road and will give a wide smooth straightaway when completed. Travel is halted at times when the work obstructs the roadway.

GRACEY MINE

Ten men are employed under Superintendent Thomas Coan developing on th 400 and 60 foot levels. Mr. Coan stated underground progress is going forward steadily.

A New Threat

to divert gas tax funds

A NEW BILL is pending in the California Assembly to give the State Highway Department authority to divert gasoline tax maintenance funds from normal highway upkeep to a few big toll bridges.

It is Assembly Bill No. 2124, known as the Dannenbrink Bill.

This bill will make operating costs of toll bridges a legal charge against the gasoline tax maintenance fund.

Aimed at reduction of tolls, it is merely a screen behind which the costs of collecting the tolls and other operating expenses will be paid from gasoline tax funds. Thus the bridges which were built to be self-supporting will be State-subsidized . . . at the expense of gasoline tax payers instead of bridge users.

Of course the bridge users want lower tolls . . . but why should millions of dollars be concentrated in operating these few toll bridges at the expense of needed highway improvements?

The Highway Maintenance Fund was originally set aside for use on roads in ALL counties of the State!

Don't let this bill be the first break in diverting this fund

Write or wire immediately to your Representatives at Sacramento in PROTEST against this measure.

CAMPOREE IS ATTENDED BY 155 BOY SCOUTS

One hundred fifty five scouts and leaders of Tahoe Area Council participated last week end in a moving type of camporee different from any of the seven previous ones. This was the most successful camporee to date. Two separate camps were made by each of the patrols Kenna property five miles north of Auburn.

Patrols of scouts gathered at an assembly point. Here sealed instructions giving directions to pack their camping equipment a mile across country were opened. The problem called for the patrols to cook three meals in the open as part of an imaginary five day hike and set up camp twice.

Saturday night a rousing campfire program lasted for two hours, each patrol furnishing entertainment. Stories and singing, and announcement of plans for summer camp completed the eveings program.

Rev. H. J. Loken addressed the scouts Sunday morning as part of the scout law service.

The first camp was broken and remade about half a mile distant. Scout leaders judged camping ability throughout the 24 hour camp and at its close Camp Director M. S. Beecher assisted by E. E. Gates, presented rating certificates to each patrol.

Council President Lowell L. Sparks and Commissioners J. Mooers F. C. Merrill and R. E. Shields visited camp and were delighted with the spirit and interest taken in the camporee.

Judging was done by Bailey Snider, Carrol Rogers, Eric Lund, W. A. Leak, S. Partridge, R. Seley, B. Hauer and R. Ebbert.

Patrols winning an A rating will be eligible to attend the Northern California camporal next fall. Much new camping equipment was in evidence being developed since last year.

WPA PUTS MEN ON DOWNIEVILLE ROAD

William P. Mitchell, in charge of WPA activities in Nevada County, states he has between 65 and 70 men employed in the county on improvement projects.

Men who are number one workers are being placed on four projects in this area, leaving numbers two and three class workers who are incapacitated by age or physical defects, for the local work.

The four mile contract on the Downieville highway above Goodyears Bar is the first project starting May 15. The Soda Springs project opened yesterday while another will open at Donner Lake June first; the Boca dam is the fourth.

Mr. Mitchell stated the WPA gives a man about $40 per month. Men are being certified every Tuesday, 13 being chosen for this section last Tuesday. All these men must be eligible for this work passing the state relief requirements in Sacramento. He said every available man will be put on. Mitchell also stated work will be resumed on the new section of the Washington road as soon as new funds are allotted by the present session of congress.

ASSESSMENT WORK TO BE DONE THIS YEAR

Many inquiries have come in in regard to assessment moratoriums and latest news the Nugget has received is that the matter is before congress. The law provides that assessment work must be done. The senate mines and mining committee are discussing merits of another moratorium. An attempt is being made to end moratoriums on mining claims. While it has been of vast benefit during the depression it is felt the claim holders have progressed so far out of the depression that they are able to carry on the work from now on.

Raemah Peter Skeahan, born May 9, 1937, died May 20, 1937. Interment in the Catholic cemetery. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Skeahan of Nevada City.

Although Palco Bark has become so well know as to be almost a staple for insulation and sound deadening, we are calling your attention to it again. Hot weather coming—the bark can be installed in old homes and should by all means be included in any new construction. Original cost is small and will be repaid to you many times in fuel savings. You get the added comfort of cool homes in hot weather for nothing.

Plastering Contractor Bill Erickson has moved a gang over to the court house where he is engaged in plastering some of the rooms in the altered building.

Murphy Paint, after our recent campaign during which we gave away many sample cans of the paint, is going "great guns". We are pleased to be able to give away a one-half gallon can at each of the School of Economics session and hope of course, that this will mean at least three more satisfied customers for this fine product.

Contractor Bob Steger and son have been busy getting out the screens for the new wing of the county hospital. These screens were made to specification in their own shop on Commercial street.

Forest Service local offices are being remodelled. The old wooden partitions are being moved to make the offices more convenient and Celotex studio board and Celotex Standard boards are being used to complete the new arrangement.

"Gosh. I need five bucks and I don't know where to get it."

"I'm glad of that. I was afraid you thought you could get it from me."

CAMP FIRE GIRLS COMING TO CAMP CELIO

Eighteen Camp Fire Girls of Oakland came up in their newly purchased truck last Friday and spent the week end at Camp Celio on Lake Vera. The girls realized $700 on a doughnut sale and purchased a truck from a Grass Valley firm. Later they had a new body and seats built on it giving them a splendid machine to come and go to the bay district. Miss G. Seibert was in charge of the group.

About 20 girls are expected to come up for the Decoration Day holiday. On June first the first delegation of Camp Fire Girls will arrive at Camp Celio for their summer vacations.

HYDRAULIC ASSN. SEATS OFFICERS

By KATHERINE BRAITHWAITE

The regular monthly meeting of the California Hydraulic Mining Association was held Saturday afternoon May 15 at the Bret Harte Hotel in Grass Valley. There was an election of new officers and the following members will have charge of the next meeting at Auburn. George Hallock of Alleghany president. C. E. Clark of Relief Hill vice president. W. W. Esterley of Grass Valley, secretary. George McAuley, treasurer. Directors, I. E. Rose, George Duffy, Ralph Moss, E. B. Dudley, Ross Taylor and Dr. W. B. Hardie.

The different committees appointed on the dam projects reported that difficulties are being rapidly swept away and with a few days the assurances will be on their way to the war department at Washington, D. C.

Due to an erroneous report in a local paper the public was informed that the North San Juan Ridge District had pulled away from the parent C. H. M. A. and formed a separate organization. The Ridge operators organized a local unit of the C. H. M. A. and at all times will work in harmony with the parent order on all projects pertaining to the benefit of hydraulic mining men in their industry.

The North San Juan local will have its next meeting Thursday evening. June 3, at Twamley Memorial hall. This will be the first of these social-business meetings and a cordial invitation is extended to all members of the C. H. M. A. throughout northern California to come and bring his neighbor. Besides the regular business of the evening there will be a well-informed speaker from Grass Valley and Nevada City.

The North San Jua local was represented at the Grass Valley meeting last Saturday by W. E. Oden, W. H. Clerkin, Kern Fogerty, William Snook, Robert Braithwaite, Mrs. W. E. Oden, Jack Brooks and Katherine Braithwaite.

NOR. SAN JUAN NINE WALLOPS CAMP BRADLEY

By BOB BRAITHWAITE

The North San Juan baseball team played its first game on home grounds last Sunday. The Camp Bradley boys of the Forest Hill CCC came to town and the local team gave them their first set-back of the season with a score of 11 to 7. The starting battery for North San Juan was Luther Thompson and Andy Yori. Elmo Dudley replacing Thompson in the fifth.

The Ridge team dropped three games before they found thmselves, but with a little ironing out on the rough places they will repeat last year's performance and win the pennant. The next two games the boys will meet stiff opposition. Next Sunday they take on Georgetown and the following Sunday Forest Hill. It will require heads-up baseball to chalk up a win from these two teams. Both of these games will be played on the new Robinson Field east of North San Juan.

Mrs. A. A. Cunningham, proprietress of the Willow Springs store and filling station, and Mr. Jack Brooks, owner of the Forty Niner Bar and clubrooms are loyal supporters of the baseball team. Through their generous contributions they made it possible for the local boys to have the necssary equipment and diamond accessories.

Manager Virgil Church of the North San Juan Ridge runners is doing a great job of keeping the boys on their toes. He has what it takes to hold the team together in the tight places when the going is tough. The people up here are pulling for him and hope his year will be a successful one.

WOUNDED MINER IS BROUGHT OUT OVER SNOW

Alvah Hooper, of Holmes-Hooper ambulance service, was called to the Goodyears Bar section early yesterday morning to bring out Newell. The accident occurred at about two o'clock while miners were on the night shift. He suffered injury to his back and complains of pain in his leg and hip. It is not thought the accident is serious.

Miners employed at the mine had to carry Newell on an improvised stretcher three miles over snow to reach the ambulance, there being about two feet of snow on the ground at the mine. Mr. Hooper stated he drove his machine a short distance above the Mt. House above Goodyears Bar to meet the party.
